Parshat Chukat with Rav Boaz

Shabbat shalom to everyone!

Sisters are really amazing!

If you study parshat Chukat carefully you will discover that without his older sister, Miriam, Moshe and his mission to lead the Jewish People are incomplete!!

Before the Torah reveals to us the sin that Moshe committed which made him unable to lead the Jewish People into the Promised Land, the chapter opens with the death of Miriam, his older sister. The next passuk informs us that there was no water for the people, which caused them to rally against Moshe and Aharon. Rashi tells us that there is a connection between these two pieces of information. For forty years the people received water in Miriam's merit. Now that she had passed away, they were thirsty, because the well that had provided for them had suddenly disappeared.

It is easy to understand the connection between Miriam's merit and the supplying of water. Miriam stood guard when her baby brother, Moshe, floated down the Nile. Her great deed was accomplished through the waters of the Nile and so, 80 years later, a well of water would save the life of her Nation!

With his big sister Miriam gone, Moshe hits the rock instead of speaking to it. Am Yisrael loses a leader and the rest is history.

If you have a sister, treat her well!!

Shabbat Eidah Aleph - Momma J says 'Shabbat Shalom'!

DVAR TORAH: GABRIELLA OHAYON

In our parsha this week, Moshe got punished for hitting the rock. Why did Moshe get such a big punishment of not going to Israel? God told Moshe to talk to the rock and instead of talking to the rock, Moshe hit the rock. Rashi taught us we can solve everything by talking and listening to each other, and never use our hands.

My name is Momma J No, it's not weird

Hi, My name is Momma J. Some people call me Jessica, but that's only for the random people in my life who don't really know me.

My parents named me Momma J. That's my real and legal name. Here's what happened. I was born on an airplane. It was a nonstop flight from Helsinki to Denver. It's a crazy long flight, and getting kosher food is not so simple for those flights. The only thing they had for my parents to eat were Humantashen and spicy pastrami. The Humantashen would've been great, but it was August. Ew. So gross. So they didn't eat that. They ate the spicy pastrami.

Who knew that spicy pastrami induces labor! Like for real! So my mom ate the pastrami and went into labor with me 5 minutes later. This was not supposed to happen. I wasn't due for two more weeks!

There were no doctors on board the flight. My parents were bugging out. Then an angel, a true emissary from Hashem came and helped my mom deliver me. Her name... you guessed it. Grandma J. That's all they knew. They never saw her again. To honour her, they named me Momma J.

Oh. I also love the CFL. True story.

What a Wild Week!

Moshevet Aliyah!

Moshevet Aliyah is in full swing! We started the week with our Chalutzim Experience as we lived and experienced Jewish life like our ancestors did in the time of the early Aliyot!

We made Honey from the hive, Olive oil from a press, kosher wine (grape juice) from crushing grapes, learned how to write a sefer Torah and made our own Havdallah candles! The world was so different before we were able to just buy everything ready-made!

We continued our adventure with the "winter is coming" peulah! Back in the day, people had to build their own homes, watchtowers and fences. We tried our own hand at hut building before the "winter" (rain) came! What a week!!!

DAY IN THE LIFE OF EIDAH ALEPH!
BY: MIA APTOWITZER, NAOMIE BURGER,
TAMAR SHOSTACK, AND SHYLEE MILLER

How Camp is going? We wake up 10 minutes before Ram Kol. Some of us eat candy. We pretend to go back to sleep when the counsellors are waking us up. After a while we get out of bed and we hear "7 minutes left until mifkad!" We get to our cubby and say "We have nothing to wear," while staring at our 20 shirts, 13 skirts, and 11 shorts. We brush our teeth and get to mifkad late. Rosie tells the British word of the day and Shylee says the Spanish word of the day. We daven with our duotang siddurs. We eat breakfast then we do our daily fake cleaning. We have fun activities but some we sit on the side. We eat a delicious lunch! For shekem we jump on our counsellors to get it. We read our mail then go to our next activities. We eat dinner then have amazing night tochnits. We wait a couple minutes for hot showers. Then we ask to borrow someone hair-brush. Then we change and have a noisy flashlight time. A few of us say we have to go to the bathroom 10 minutes after lights out.

That's a day in Eidah Aleph!
Shout outs to: Mama J, Kitchen staff, Counsellors, MARP Staff
